Venice, July 27.

WE have Letters from our Fleet by the way of Otranto of the second Instant, which give an account, That they had taken Calamata, and that they afterwards attackt Coron, which they hoped in few days to be likewise Masters of, though the Garrison which consisted, as they were informed, of 1600 men, made a very vigorous defence. Upon the first approach of our Troops to Coron the Enemy made a Sally with 300 men, but they were so well received that most of them were cut in pieces; and on our side the Count de San Vitale a Knight of Malta and some others were killed; after which our Troops took their Posts round the place, made their Lines of Circumvallation and opened the Trenches under the Conduct of the Count de St. Paul; And when these Letters were written, they were advanced to the Ditch of the place; And our Cannon and Bombs had laid part of the Town in Ashes, which put the Inhabitants into a great consternation. While the Siege was thus carried on, Captain General Moresini sent out several Parties to make Incursions into the neighboring Provinces, but with express command not to do any harm to the Greeks who appear very desirous to put themselves under the Protection of the Republick. The Proveditore General Valier was according to our last advices at Almisa in Dalmatia; And Signior Michieli General of the Horse at Duare; The Heydukes of Cliffa have made an Incursion into the Territories of Singn, where they took many Prisoners and a great deal of Booty.

Warsaw, July 15. The Troops of this Kingdom and those of the Great Dutchy of Lithuania, are marching to the general Rendezvous, but so slowly that it will be the middle of the next month before they are in a Body; The Army will be commanded by the Crown General, the King not enjoying his Health well enough to go into the Field himself. We have a very sad Account from Podolia, Polinia, and the Less Russia, of the late Incursions of the Tartars, who have burnt a great many Towns and Villages, and destroyed a great number of People, besides those they carried away with them; So that those great Provinces, which had already very much suffered in the former Campaigns, will not in a long time be able to repair the damage they have now sustained by these Incursions. An Envoy is arrived here from Michael Abassi Prince of Transylvania; It's said he comes to assure the King of the good Intentions of his Master, and that he will not joyn his Troops with the Turks this Campaign; And from whence he has orders to go to Vienna to give the Emperor the same Assurances; Which we think here do not deserve any great regard. The Court continues at Willanona. The Great Chancellor of this Kingdom is preparing for his Embassie to France, and we are told he will begin his journey thither the next week; And that the King of Poland is sending the Prince of Lubomirski to the Emperor to acquaint him with the occasion of this Embassie.

Vienna, July 26. The 18th Instant arrived here from the Camp before Newbushel, the young Count de Coningsbeck, being sent by the Duke of Lorraine to Compliment the Elector of Bavaria upon his Marriage; He gave the Emperor and his Electoral Highness a very good account of the Siege, and among other particulars informed them, That on the 15th they finished a Battery of three great pieces of Cannon, and the night following posted themselves on the edge of the Ditch on the right and the left, the Enemy not perceiving them by reason of the darkness of the night and a thick Rain, but at break of Day finding with a great deal of surprize how far the Besiegers had advanced their Works, they fired upon them without intermission; and killed and wounded 50 of our men; The Baron d'Asi and the Lieutenant-Colonel of the Regiment of Grana were likewise killed, and a Captain of the Regiment of Baden was wounded. The 16th the Besiegers fired from another Battery against the Palisadoes before the Gate, to oblige the Turks that were posted behind them to retire; And when Count Coningsbeck came from the Camp they were raising a Battery of 24 great Pieces of Cannon, and two others near the Ditch of six Pieces each, besides a Battery of 15 Mortars. The 21. we received Letters from the Camp, which said that the great Battery was finished; and that the Duke of Lorraine having received advice that the Turkish Army marched towards Gran, he had sent out Colonel Heuster with 600 Horse and 1000 Hussars commanded by the Count de Zabor, with orders to pass the Bridge at Birken, and to march towards Viegrad to learn in what posture the Enemy was; And that at the same time his Highness commanded the Count de Stirum to pass the Bridge he had caused to be laid over the Danube near Comorra with a Body of Dragoons, and to post himself near Gran.

Vienna, July 29. The 27th arrived here by Water 3500 Foot of the Forces of the Circle of Franconia, who came ashore to refresh themselves, and having exercised in the presence of the Emperor, they embarked again yesterday, and continued their way for Hungary; The Horse taking their march within three miles of this place. The Prince de Lubomirski is arrived here, being sent by the King of Poland to communicate to the Emperor the Reasons of his sending the Great Chancellor of Poland, with the Character of his Ambassador Extraordinary to the Court of France. An Envoy is arrived here by the way of Poland, from the Prince of Transylvania, but we do not yet know what his Errand is. The Letters from the Camp before Newbushel of the 28th past, tell us that their Bombs and Carcasses had done great execution, having laid the greatest part of the Town in Ashes, and
